

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

There is provided a UV-reflective interference layer system for transparent substrates with broadband anti-reflection properties in the visible wavelength
5 range. The interference layer system includes at least four individual layers. Successive layers have different refractive indices and the individual layers contain UV and temperature-stable inorganic materials.